Employees inside the so called "flexible zone", €400.01 to €800 pay only a reduced contribution towards the full social insurance contribution. Other exceptions apply with regard to mandatory care insurance. The care contribution surcharge for the childless is paid only by the employee. › Annual income limit

Health Insurance

- €49,500*

* For people who on 31.12.2002 were not subject to mandatory insurance and held only private health insurance because their income exceeded the annual limit; the applicable limit for 2010 is €44,550.

If a person's regular annual income exceeds the limit from the beginning of employment, he or she is not subject to mandatory health insurance. If the annual income limit is exceeded during the course of employment, mandatory health insurance will end at the end of the calendar year, but only if the income limit for the following year is also exceeded.

› Mini jobs

Monthly

- €400

If regular monthly earnings do not exceed this amount, mandatory health insurance does not apply. The employer must then pay fixed health and pension insurance contributions to the Minijob Centre. Special conditions apply when a person holds two or more minijobs at the same time. Your local BARMER GEK office will be happy to provide you with further details.
